Dear Lexie Cohea:

LexisNexis®, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc is the sole source provider for all of your agency's research needs. This letter is intended to provide you with a brief overview of the products and services available to you from LexisNexis. If you require more information, please feel free to contact me with any questions.

LexisNexis provides many exclusive products as part of the LexisNexis® Total Research System including:

- Shepard's® Citations Service – the premier service for cite checking since 1873. Assess the strength of your authority and see where your authority has been cited. Shepard's Citations Service has comprehensive coverage of all principal sources of law, as well as a full spectrum of editorial analysis, including true positive. For more than 100 years, Shepard's has been the most trusted authority for determining good law and enhancing legal research.
- Matthew Bender® National Analytical Material – authoritative legal analysis covering every practice area including such premier treatises as (customized for specific practice areas if pertinent) Moore's Federal Practice®, Collier on Bankruptcy®, Immigration Law and Procedure, Nimmer on Copyright®, and much more.
- Alert Feature – The LexisNexis Alert feature is a powerful clipping-service tool that allows a user to track and receive updates on materials. Rather than re-entering the same search each time you need updates, you may enter it once then receive new results on a daily, weekly or monthly basis.
- Combining Multiple Sources – Users can combine sources they need on Lexis.com. Just place checkmarks next to sources you want to search in, click the "combine sources" button, and search. The feature automatically arranges your search results so you can zero in on any source type in a flash. Your searches are also conveniently saved in your search History for up to 30 days.
- FOCUS feature – Users may use this feature to find documents with key words within your initial search results – even if those words were not part of your original search request. You may also restrict your results by document segment, date, and more.
- Electronic Table of Contents – Available with most state and federal codes, regulations and treatises, ETOC enables researchers to easily view section in context. Researchers may browse or search within the ETOC, or even just selected parts of the ETOC, giving more search flexibility than ever before.

In addition to our authoritative content offerings, LexisNexis offers the following exclusive features to make your research more accurate and efficient:

- LexisNexis Case Summaries – Written by our attorney editors, Case Summaries are targeted synopses of cases. Each case summary includes: Procedural Posture (the case’s procedural history); Overview (brief review of the court’s holding); and Outcome (procedural disposition).
- LexisNexis Headnotes – Access key legal points of a case, in the court’s own language. Each headnote is hyper-linked to the part of the case where the discussion occurs, and to related concepts in Lexis® Search Advisor.
 - More Like This Headnote – Find additional on-point headnotes simply by clicking on the link at the end of the headnote.
 - Retrieve All Headnote- Shows you all case headnotes written for a specific Search Advisor topic. Use early in your research to help you understand the topic.
- 30-Day Search History – Access all your prior research from the last 30 days, rerun or edit your prior searches, and revisit earlier thought patterns.

LexisNexis is pleased to work with Tulsa County and to be the sole source provider for your research needs. We strive to provide you with a superior product and quality customer service. Please contact me with any questions at 1-800-227-9597, x54074.
Thank you,
